

ARRAYS

TAMANO

Oscar Paniagua @2023

array@sizeof()

```
índice
                                                       8
#define MAX 5
                                             valores
                                                       0
                                                             0
                                                                  0
                                                                        0
                                                                             0
int main(){
    int valores[MAX];
                                                i 0
                                                                           4 bytes
    int i;
    for(i=0;i<MAX;i++){
        valores[i] = 0;
    printf("Tamaño en bytes es: %ld\n", sizeof(valores));
    printf("Tamaño en elementos es: %ld\n", sizeof(valores)/sizeof(valores[0]));
```